CHURCH-BUILDING QUARTERLY

PUBLISHED BY

THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH-BUILDING SOCIETY

JANUARY, 1906.

We had a good year last year ; see report. Now we 1906. want to make this year a good deal better. A contribution from every church and from every member of every church is what we ask.

We are expecting, also, that many individuals Expectations. will send us annuity gifts this year, or the amount needed for a memorial church in remembrance of some sainted dear one. We look, also, for 2,000 contributions from Sunday-schools to help build ten "Children's Churches," and as many from Christian Endeavor Societies to help complete their own churches.

Every year the women of several States, through The Women the Woman's Home Missionary Union, send us Will Help. money enough to build a church, or parsonage, or both. One State sent recently enough for four churches and one parsonage. We look for a large increase of their gifts this year, to help provide homes for pastors and for churches.

Our work still far outruns our available resources. We had on our January docket sixty-three applications calling for $90,500. Many of them had been waiting more than six months. Our January Docket, The large receipts for December enabled us to respond to twenty-four of these, to which church grants, church loans, and parsonage loans amounting to $43,500, were voted. Thirty-nine applications had to be carried over. They may have to wait some time, for usually we have not more than one-third as much money to vote away as we had this month. This means disappointment and distress to the churches applying. Why not double your gifts ?

Some one asks if we have not a surplus, and are in Accounted no special need of money, since we received last
For. year $275,374.48, and the appropriations voted were but $202,787.59. No indeed. The difference is accounted for by the fact that our receipts include $41,745, paid directly to the churches, or to our treasury for particular churches, and included in our grant mortgages as contributions to the work we are carrying on; this is additional to the amount voted by the Board. It also includes $33,475.71 received in December, which was not available for use till January, and which was appropriated at the recent meeting. This leaves us again with depleted funds, which must be replenished before we can help the needy cases now urgently appealing for aid.

The church in Croton, Ohio, has been making

Cases. On account of large receipts in December, it was able to vote five Parsonage Loans, nine Church Grants, and ten Church Loans. But one application for a Parsonage Loan and thirty-eight applications for Church Grants and Loans had to be laid over till more money comes in. Many of these are from places of exceptional promise, where the young church must have our help or fail. In quite a number of cases there is no other church in the community. Some of these cases have been waiting six months for their answer. Ought they to wait longer? Any church or individual may vote "NO" by sending us a contribution to help these waiting applicants.

Fifty-third Annual Meeting

OF THE

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH BUILDING SOCIETY.

The fifty-third annual meeting of the Congregational Church Building Society was held January 11th, 1906, at half past three o'clock in the afternoon, in the United Charities Building, 105 East 22d street, New York City.

The President of the Society, Lucien C. Warner, LL.D., occupied the chair.

Prayer was offered by the Rev. Charles H. Richards.

The Chairman appointed as a Nominating Committee, Mr. John H. Washburn, Mr. Sayres Hadley and Rev. Charles C. Creegan, D.D.

The minutes of the last annual meeting were read and approved.

Secretary Charles H. Richards then read the fifty-third annual report of the Board of Trustees of the Congregational Church-Building Society, which was accepted and ordered placed on file and printed in the Church Building Quarterly.

The reports of the Field Secretaries, Rev. George A. Hood, (New England,) Rev. W. W. Newell, (The Interior,) Rev. H. H. Wikoff, (Pacific District,) and Mrs. Charles H. Taintor, Assistant Field Secretary, were then presented and ordered printed in the Quarterly.

The Treasurer's report for 1905 was read by Mr. Charles E. Hope, with the statement of the auditors, and was accepted and ordered placed on file and printed in the QUARTERLY.

The Nominating Committee made its report and the following officers and trustees were elected :

President.

LUCIEN C. WARNER, LL.D.

Vice-Presidents.

MR. AARON B. MEAD, Chicago, Ill.

MR. ELBRIDGE TORREY, Boston, Mass.

HON. D. C. BELL, Minneapolis, Minn.

MR. C. D. WOOD, Brooklyn, N. Y.

MR. H. CLARK FORD, Cleveland, Ohio.

REV. CHARLES S. MILLS, D.D., St. Louis, Mo.

Recording Secretary.

CHARLES H. RICHARDS.

Trustees.

For three years—Mr. Ernest Greene, Rev. William H. Kephart, Rev. C. L. Goodrich, L. C. Warner, LL.D., Rev. Frederick Lynch.

For one year—To complete the unexpired terms of Rev. Dr. R. T. Hall, and Mr. William H. Wanamaker, Rev. Melatiah Everett Dwight and Rev. Charles L. Kloss, D.D.

A motion was made and carried that Article V of the Constitution of this Society be so amended that the word "second" in the second line, sixth word, shall read "third," so that the article on meetings will read: "The annual meeting of the Society shall be held in New York or Brooklyn on the third Thursday in January."

Rev. George A. Hood, Field Secretary for New England, being present, then addressed the Society.

The minutes of the meeting were then read and approved, and after prayer by the Rev. Charles C. Cregan, D.D., the Society adjourned.

CHARLES H. RICHARDS, Recording Secretary.

Fifty-third Annual Report

OF THE

BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH-BUILDING SOCIETY.

PRESENTED BY SECRETARY CHARLES H. RICHARDS.

We gratefully report another prosperous year in the work of the Congregational Church-Building Society. It has not been without its sore trials. We have lost some of our most valued helpers, whose presence and aid we greatly miss. But God has moved the hearts of individuals and churches to desire a larger participation in the fellowship of mutual help which this Society represents, and our work has grown accordingly.

RECEIPTS.

The year 1905 has been a record breaking year with us in the matter of receipts. The total income of receipts from all sources has been $275,374.48. This is larger than the income of any other year of the Society's history except 1897, when by reason of the Stickney legacy the receipts were more than $162,000 larger than the year before. It is a gratifying fact that nearly every one of our sources of income—contributions, repaid instalments of loans, legacies, specials, interest, and other sources shows an increase over last year.

We have been pleased to note the goodly number of individuals who have had a share in our work by memorial gifts or otherwise. We hear of others who are considering our annuity plan, or who are writing this Society into their wills. We believe that people of means will be more and more attracted by the opportunity of leaving their money in such a way that there will be tangible evidence of their benevolent purpose. The churches they help to build will be their monuments. Long after they have passed from earth they will be preaching the Gospel of redemption through these temples of religion they have helped to create. This is an alluring prospect which many are finding very attractive.

The number of churches contributing to this cause in 1905 has been 2,865. The number is somewhat less than in the previous year, owing in part to the serious interruption of our work in the Middle West, caused by the critical illness and death of our lamented Field Secretary, Dr. Taintor. We trust that the slight falling off in the number of giving churches is but temporary. We shall make a resolute effort in 1906 to convince every one of the 3,054 churches that gave nothing in 1905 to help their sister churches in distress that the Roll of Honor among Congregational churches is made up of churches which give something every year to each of our Congregational benevolent causes.

APPLICATIONS.

Some ten years ago Dr. Cobb in the Annual Report, expressed wonder whether we were approaching a crisis in church building. It looked like it. He was being snowed under by an avalanche of appeals that poured in faster than they could be responded to. But the condition is chronic. Whatever the increase of income, we are never able to catch up with the demand. The appeals last year were so far in excess of the available funds that we were compelled to be always six months behind in our work. Applications coming in January could not even be considered till July or later. July applications are waiting still for funds with which they may be met. We believe if the giving churches fully realized the distress and embarrassment this occasions, they would send the money faster and more of it.

We have no debt; except this debt of love and service to the churches in need. When we hear them cry "Help, or we perish!" it is time to bestir ourselves.

The applications before our Board in 1905 were as follows:

Carried over from 1904 because of lack of funds:

39 applications for grants.....	calling for	$39,100
25 applications for church loans.....	" "	44,350
4 applications for parsonage loans.....	" "	4,075

Total 68 applicatsons carried over.....	$87,525
---	----------

Applications received in 1905:

78 applications for grants.....	calling for	$ 70,295.59
50 applications for church loans.....	" "	122,200.00
57 applications for parsonage loans.....	" "	38,750.00

Total, 185 applications received in 1905.	$231,245.59
---	--------------

Total, 253 applications before the Board in 1905,	$318,770.59
---	--------------

Thirty-three of the above applications were from churches asking both grant and loan.

Four churches asked aid for building both church and parsonage.

In response to these appeals the following appropriations were voted :

Grants voted to 84 churches.....	amounting to $	66,842.59
Church loans voted to 54 churches.....	" "	102,300.00
Parsonage loans voted to 52 churches...	" "	33,645.00

Total appropriations voted, 190.....	$202,787.59
--------------------------------------	--------------

APPROPRIATIONS PAID IN 1905.

Grants paid to 75 churches.....	amounting to $	96,375.95
Church loans paid to 58 churches.....	" "	104,585.29
Parsonage loans paid to 37 churches....	" "	24,150.00

Total 170 grants and loans.....	$225,111.24
---------------------------------	--------------

Thirty-three of the above churches received both grants and loans. Two received "specials" only. The total amount of "specials" coming under our protection in 1905 was $47,557.82, most of which is included in our grant mortgages.

OUR WAITING LIST.

Few of the churches to which appropriations are voted are able to call for the money immediately. They have buildings to complete, money to raise on the field, or other conditions to meet. We expect to pay only last bills and leave the church out of debt except to us, and we secure our grants and loans by a first mortgage on the property, which must have no other incumbrance. We hold the money appropriated for one year awaiting the call of the church. If it is not then quite ready, but hopes to be soon, the time may be extended for a reasonable period upon application of the church to the Board.

It thus happens that we have a waiting list of churches to which aid has been voted, but which have not yet completed their work so as to call for the money. This accounts for the fact that the appropriations paid are usually less than those voted.

The present waiting list is as follows :

71 church grants, amounting to.....	$	71,852.59.
54 church loans, " "	" "	132,870.75
41 parsonage loans " "	" "	27,470.00

Total voted and waiting to be paid

$232,193.30

DISTRIBUTION OF OUR WORK.

The 139 churches which we aided in 1905 have been in 35 States and territories ; 4 in New England, 14 in the Middle Atlantic States, 8 in the South, 85 in the Middle West, 27 on the Pacific Coast and one in Porto Rico, as follows :

Houses of worship—one each in Arizona, Colorado, Indian Territory, Louisiana, Massachusetts, Missouri, Porto Rico, Tennessee, Utah, Vermont and Wyoming ; two each in Georgia and Maine ; three each in Oklahoma and Oregon ; four each in Idaho, Kansas, Nebraska and Pennsylvania ; five each in California, Iowa, Michigan, South Dakota, Washington and Wisconsin ; seven in Ohio, and eight each in New York and North Dakota.

Parsonages—one each in Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Indian Territory, Louisiana, Minnesota, Montana, New Jersey, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania and South Carolina ; two each in California, Michigan, Missouri and Wyoming ; three each in Kansas and Wisconsin ; four in Iowa, and six in Washington.

The 102 churches to which our grants and church loans have been paid in 1905 brings the number of houses of worship which the Society has helped to complete up to 3,704.

The 37 parsonages we helped to build last year makes a total of 957 homes for pastors secured by us.

The total receipts of the fifty-three years amount to $5,112,-219.79.

The safe protection of the money entrusted to us for aiding needy churches has ever been regarded by this Society as of vital importance. The earlier method of protection by a "Certificate and Agreement," signed by trustees, was found to be utterly inadequate. Trustees die, or move away, or forget. The entire personnel of a church may change within ten years in some places. Since 1877 the Society has secured its appropriations paid to the churches by a first mortgage upon the house and lot, and has reached the maximum of safety in protection. The "specials" contributed from Congregational sources outside the church, but paid directly to it, are included for protection under our grant mortgage. The courts have decided that we are the proper custodians of such money, given for Congregational church building, and are as much under obligation to protect it as though it had gone directly from our treasury.

OUR VARIOUS FUNDS.

When we speak of our Grant Fund, our Church Loan Fund, and our Parsonage Loan Fund, it should be remembered that these are not here in our treasury. They are all out in the field, in the churches we have aided. Whatever comes in any month is promptly voted out; but it does not half meet the need. Whatever we have in the bank has all been voted away, and may be called for any day. Churches which imagine that we have a lot of money here from which this Board can ladle out a generous supply to them if it only feels like it, are utterly mistaken. There is no money to vote away except what comes in month by month. Our funds are in the field, doing glorious work for the churches.

We have, however, an Annuity Fund of $72,494, which we are not at liberty to use during the life time of the donors. They have put it into our treasury to receive from it an annuity as long as they live, after which it will go to work to build churches.

We have also the Ricker Fund of $5,000, of which only the income can be used in our work.

We have also a Guarantee Fund of $50,000, for the protection of aid voted in excess of cash on hand. Such a fund is a necessary safeguard against possible emergencies. All these special funds are amply protected by good securities.

OUR FUTURE WORK.

It seems certain that our work must steadily increase. We have needed every month this year from three to five times as much money as we had in order to meet the appeals made to us. About one hundred and fifty new Congregational churches are organized each year, and more ought to be. There are believed to be 500 unhoused Congregational churches in our country; fifty of them are in North Dakota alone. It is the universal testimony that an unhoused church is born but to die. There appear to be more than 2,500 churches of our order in this country which have no home for the pastor. If our denomination is to do its full share of making and keeping ours a Christian republic, and of helping to evangelize the world, it ought to put not less than $500,000 a year into church and parsonage building.

SOME EVENTS OF THE YEAR.

By invitation of the Congregational Home Missionary Society the other Homeland Societies held meetings in connection with the Annual Meeting of that Society May 31st, at Springfield, Mass. During the Church Building hour, our President, Dr. Warner, took the chair and spoke of our work; the Secretary read a paper; and addresses were made by the Rev. A. W. Ackerman, D.D., Rev. F. J. Goodwin and Rev. Frank S. Fitch, D.D.

By invitation of the American Missionary Association this Society also shared in its Annual Meeting at Worcester, Mass., October 19, in connection with other Congregational benevolent societies. Addresses upon our work were made by Secretary Richards and Field Secretary Hood.

An interesting episode of the year has been the case of the First Congregational Church of Allegheny, Pa. After many disheartening struggles, this church, which had accomplished a good work in former years, found its difficulties so increased by changed conditions, that with the approval of a Council, it voted to disband. The Council advised it to sell its property, pay its indebtedness, and use the balance of the proceeds of the sale to promote the interests of Congregationalism in Western Pennsylvania. The church then turned to this Society, which had given it generous aid, and asked it to take title to its property, dispose of it, and disburse the proceeds. Our Board accepted the trust, and sold the attractive and convenient building to the Bethel Lutheran Church for $23,000. After paying the claim of this Society and of other creditors there remained an equity in the proceeds of sale amounting to $14,291.79. But our Board decided that the needs of that section justified it in doing even more than the Council had advised. It accordingly transferred the equity from this sale to the First Congregational Church, Pittsburg, and the Congregational Church, Braddock, and supplemented this with a generous grant and loans, which it hopes will enable these two churches to establish themselves for a large and splendid work. It has besides two other churches in that section on its docket, to be helped a little later.

THE CHANGES OF THE YEAR.

The past year has been an eventful one in the changes that have come to us in our working force. At our last annual meeting we had with us the Rev. Dr. Charles H. Taintor, who had been for twenty-one years our very efficient and successful Field Secretary in the Middle West. His love of the work and enthusiasm for this Society were made manifest in the address he made at that meeting. He was planning for a year of larger and more fruitful service than ever. But even then his strength was being undermined by an insidious disease which was soon to terminate his earthly labors. Returning to Chicago, he was prostrated in March and compelled to relinquish the work he so dearly loved. In May came the summons which called him from earth. His record of service on behalf of this Society had been unique and effective, and he had won the esteem and affection of pastors and churches throughout his great district to a remarkable degree. We are profoundly thankful for the great work he did, and greatly bereaved by his loss.

The beloved companion of his life and his work, Mrs. C. H. Taintor, has long borne worthily the title of Assistant Field Secretary. We are glad to say that she still continues in the service of the Society. She has transferred her office to Clinton, Conn., her husband's ancestral home. Here she will keep in close touch with all the old friends in the Middle West, and make many new friends in the East whom she will interest in our work.

We have been very fortunate in finding a successor to Dr. Taintor, who is already winning golden opinions in his new work. We called the Rev. W.W. Newell from his pastorate of the Compton Hill Congregational Church in St. Louis, to become our Field Secretary in Chicago, and he entered upon his duties October 1st. His qualifications and experience give him a rare equipment for our work, and he has received a most cordial welcome from his broad field. We anticipate for him a great and growing success.

Death has also invaded the ranks of our Board, and taken from us two whose counsel and assistance were of the greatest value to us. The Rev. Russell T. Hall, D.D., had been on our Board for ten years, and for a large part of that time had been on the Application Committee. A talented and successful pastor, whose life was enriched by a wide experience in the East, West and South, conscientious, courageous, and wise, he was remarkably well fitted to understand the needs of the churches and to advise as to aiding them. He was rarely absent from our meetings. As a member of this Board he accomplished much for the advancement of the Kingdom of Christ.

Mr. William H. Wanamaker was an ideal Christian business man. Aggressive, tireless and masterful in the conduct of affairs, he had built up a great and profitable business, and he was one of the foremost citizens of Philadelphia. But it was his great delight to use the rewards of his labor for the betterment of the world and for the service of the Master whom he trusted and loved. A generous supporter of his own church, he gave largely to other good causes. He became deeply interested in the Missionary work of our denomination, especially in that of our Homeland Societies, since he felt keenly the perils and possibilities of our country. He gave freely of his personal service to these causes, and came twice a month to New York to assist in the direction of this Society and the Home Missionary Society. His deep sympathy with the churches, his warm fellowship, his zeal for the extension of Christ's kingdom, his business sagacity, his ripe experience, and his sound judgment made him an invaluable helper. And he will still be a helper. His parting gift of $5,000 to each of these two Societies in whose direction he had been personally enlisted, attests his desire to be counted as having a share in their work. The churches he will thus help to build by his donation to this Society will be his perpetual memorial.

STATE SECRETARIES AND LOCAL CORRESPONDENTS.

We cannot close without a word of warm appreciation of the voluntary service rendered by our special helpers all over the broad field of our country. Never have we more needed their assistance than now. Never have they given us better service than in this past year. They are picked men, recommended to us by their brethren as especially fitted to counsel us with regard to our work in their several localities. We have freely called upon them for advice and co-operation, and they have given it generously and with rare good judgment. There are forty of these State Secretaries, besides our Field Secretaries, and two hundred and forty Local Correspondents, to whom the churches as well as ourselves are greatly indebted. To them all, as well as to the thirty-eight Home Missionary Secretaries and Superintendents, with whom we are in constant consultation, and whose assistance to us is invaluable beyond words, we extend our very hearty thanks.

We now stand on the threshold of a new year of work. May God grant us wisdom and strength for it, and make this Society a greater blessing than ever to the churches and to our country.

Seventeenth Annual Report of Rev. George A. Hood,

FIELD SECRETARY FOR NEW ENGLAND.

The year 1905 has seemed to have no special incidents, but a gradual increase in appreciation of the Congregational Church-Building Society by the churches and individuals of New England.

More of the churches are saying that since the churches of New England ask large aid from only these two Societies, they ought to give the Church-Building Society the next largest amount of beneficence to the Home Missionary Society.

More individuals are also becoming large givers. One man, who said he is not a Christian, gave us at first $80, then $100 a year, till he had two churches which owed their success to his paying the last bills on their church buildings through the Church-Building Society. Another, not a church member, has given us at first $300, annually, then $400 a year, till he has six churches. from which he enjoys hearing reports of their good work, whose success was made possible by his contributions. Another has given a thousand dollars per year for several years. An increasing number of good women also are doing the same grand work.

These realize that no matter how much work is done in other missionary lines, no missionary church can grow or even live long without a building, and therefore Congregational growth and work is limited by the ability of the Congregational Church-Building Society to give them good aid.

A Massachusetts man has this year paid $1,000 to the Church-Building Society to be used as the first payment on a $5,000 fund in memory of his father; he has selected for his first churches two in the West which have asked $500 apiece. God seems to richly bless these memorial churches, and naturally, for they are carefully selected, and the friends probably pray for them. Some years ago $1,000 was given as a memorial of a beautiful young lady, a worker in the church to whom such a memorial would be especially grateful. It paid the last bills on a Western church costing $3,500, seating 300. After the dedication it had a revival; it released the Home Missionary aid to be used elsewhere; it was so prominent in reform work that the saloon-keepers tried to burn it, but though they failed the attempt aroused such sympathy for the church that it became the strongest in the town of 15,000 population; the church was raised ten feet and a basement where foreigners could worship was put in; the people started a Congregational Club for that section of the State, and an academy which is out of debt, but is overwhelmed by applications from the stirring young folks of that large region. The church has also paid back the money it received from the Congregational Church-Building Society, which has built other churches with it. Such splendid results are a source of both earthly and heavenly joy to the brothers and sisters here and to the father and mother who have ascended to the Father's home, the city of jewels and gold.

A Boston lawyer who writes many wills says that more individuals than we suppose are now planning how to do the most good with at least a portion of their property, especially in view of the disgust with and distrust of the conspicuous covetousness of the times. The fact that wills are now so uncertain and costly in distribution, leads bankers and lawyers often to advise that persons should themselves settle that portion of their estate which is to go to missionary or other beneficence. In doing this the annuity fund of the Congregational Church-Building Society offers them an investment if they wish the income, which would probably give those who are getting on in years a larger return than if invested in most commercial securities which are thoroughly safe. But the annuity gift is also a beneficence, for at death the money is released to go without any expenses of litigation or administration or taxes into the work which they are to enjoy through eternity.

Of the incidents and results which can be itemized, I have recorded a total of 125 addresses for church building in 82 churches, in eight Conferences, and three State Associations; 14 Rallies; with three sermons preached and two other addresses made on beneficence as a matter of the Christian life. In seeing the people and the interests of the work I have made 133 special calls, and travelled 16,870 miles.

Asking the blessing of God upon the work thus done, we leave it in His hands and reach forth eagerly for what He will give us in the year 1906.

First Report of Rev. William A. Newell,

FIELD SECRETARY, INTERIOR DISTRICT.

To date a report from Chicago is to write from the centre of American Congregationalism. With some eighty churches, and well above 13,000 church members in the city limits proper, not including 2,000 more in Oak Park and Evanston which are in the continuous population of the city, the denomination is locally at work amid a population using all the tongues of the civilized world and some besides, and has world problems at its door.

And there is nothing provincial about Chicago. Boston has nothing in reserve which she has not already contributed to our life in the giving of her best in men or in thought, save infallibility; and New York would give half her possessions for Chicago roominess and climate. And Chicago is not "out west." Location is to-day measured not in miles but in time. The far away camp in Maine can be farther from New York than San Francisco is. From New York to Chicago is now eighteen hours, and can be fifteen when one man wishes. In October your Field Secretary left Chicago on one trip before a certain midnight. On the morning of the second day, after thirty-two hours continuous travel in a line due west by express train, he alighted in Chadron for the Nebraska state meeting and found he was then one hundred miles due north of the geographical centre of the Union. Other addresses were made on that trip in Cheyenne, Wyoming and in Denver; then the return journey was begun toward this Illinois metropolis which was two-thirds of the distance in point of time from the centre of the country to the eastern seaboard.

The writer came to the present work in October and has now had a three months' glimpse of the place which this Society has in the life of the churches. The first impression was one of joy at the cordiality of the reception accorded the new-comer. This greeting was not personal; the attitude of men and churches which was thus expressed means much for the future. The invitation to important pulpits, beginning with First Church, Oak Park, has been so generous that from the beginning there has been scarcely a Sunday when the opportunity and need of the Society could not be presented where it would tell for the cause. This welcome was in no small measure due to the heartiness of the introduction given the new man by Secretary Charles H.

Richards at the Chicago Ministers' meeting and the Wisconsin State Association which he visited for the purpose.

Another impression of this brief period is of the undeveloped resources of Congregationalism. When we have the church more thoroughly organized for benevolence, and are able to carry forward our service without the special appeals from sister societies which have the misfortune of large debt, there will be a great increase in effectiveness. Undoubtedly the debts must first be met. Undoubtedly also this must at once be followed by better system which shall provide as in business and government a budget within which expenses shall be kept, and a plan which shall make sure the total needed.

This report goes from an office in which men, and women too, have testified every week of my occupancy, to the great service and devotion of Dr. and Mrs. Taintor, who, for more than two decades, labored with the highest devotion, and with great success for this cause into which the Master led them. Their memorial is indeed imperishable.

Eleventh Annual Report of Rev. H. H. Wikoff.

FIELD SECRETARY, PACIFIC DISTRICT.

Without minimizing in any degree the work of bygone days, the last year has been an exceedingly busy one. Much of this immense district has been traversed, and your representative has come in contact with many of the finest people therein. On Sundays the larger centres have been visited, and the families brought once more face to face with the grand work our Society is doing. Week nights have frequently found me in the smaller churches with a fair audience ready to listen to the church-building story. Such gatherings are not possible in the ordinary way, and so something moderately unusual has to be adopted. This time it was the lantern. Pictures to be seen, though not a novel attraction, had their influence and hence gatherings varied in size—sometimes, though, a house full. But whether few or many, they have given fine attention and departed wiser as to the history of the Lord's House, and the part played by Congregational Church-Building Society in helping to erect the same in many communities. Offerings thus have been increased.

Now all this could not have been accomplished without many hours on the cars—somewhat of staging—nights at some of the smaller and less attractive hotels and an absence from home longer than delightful. Altogether one hundred communities have been visited, some of them several times—addresses one hundred and five, and miles traveled seventeen thousand. Receipts of this office have exceeded those of last year. I am not yet aware of the entire returns, for some go directly to New York, but from all I have been able to gather the Pacific District's record is one of the best in all the years.

Impressions? Yes. Many of them. One, that our metropolitan work is, generally speaking, doing well. Another, that many a frontier hamlet has its first and only house of worship through help from our Board. Another, that no missionary work is more important than helping to house the few saints who, in some new community, are at peaceful odds, struggling to plant permanently the Church of the living God.

But in all the years nothing has more deeply impressed me in the year just gone than the growing demands upon our Board. Month after month applications have been carried over only to find that the funds at command were inadequate for the pressing needs. Had this been due to a cessation or diminution of interest on the part of our many friends it would have been sad indeed, but as it was rather the result of increasing new work, it could but make us rejoice, at the same time awakening the question, what of the future?

So far as the Pacific District is concerned this must be said: the outlook indicates an increase rather than a lessening of the overtures which must be made for help. With more extensive Congregational operations than ever before, the inevitable outcome must be more un-churched communities brought under the influence of the Gospel of our Lord. Added to this is the constant coming of those from beyond the mountains. It may be fairly said that the last twelve months have been record-breaking in the number of people who for the first time have seen the Pacific Coast in its entirety. Of the two million and a half admissions to the Portland Exposition, many were from regions nearer the rising sun than are we, and of the latter, thousands, it would seem, were not content with viewing one portion alone, but went from north to south, from south to north. Some of them gladly retraced their steps eastward, content to remain where for so many years their "vine and fig-tree" had flourished. Not so with others. This fair land revealed to them resources, possibilities, opportunities, such as they never knew before, and hence the journey backward to familiar scenes was only that preparation could be made to take up their habitation somewhere within easy reach of the western sea.

This means much. It signifies among other things that the Kingdom of God, already established in our midst, must arise to the emergency. It must extend its borders. In these continually growing commercial centers it must multiply its institutions. In village and hamlet, forming and to be formed, it must plant the church, the church best adapted to each community. Fortunately for our Congregational resources all will not be of our order. Some will; many we hope. Appeals will be frequent. Calls will be urgent. And if in other parts of the land the demands of the immediate future are as continuous as they have been of late, who, conversant with the whole situation, can for a moment doubt the greatness of the work the Church-Building Society will be called upon to do?

In view of this, what? Much. The limits of my space, however, forbid my elaborating the prophetic suggestions which arise in my mind. I can only say that the situation and prospects call for renewed effort on the part of all our pastors and churches for church extension. That is what the Congregational Church-Building Society is for. And may we not have in the near future a conference of the Secretary with all his field forces? In the eleven years of the writer's service we have from time to time seen one another, conversed about our much loved Society and our common duties, but never have New York, Chicago, Boston and San Francisco come together to compare notes, consider difficulties, and formulate plans for aggressive work. We are looking eagerly for the time when we shall all be called together to consider means and methods for enlarging our resources and increasing our usefulness. For what a work is ours! How much it combines business methods with missionary operations—and this with churches whose members are our constituents, and whose thoughts and expressions concerning such movements are gradually gathered by the workers with whom such come in contact. Just now, on the eve of a great expansion, when the work must suffer unless the resources are largely increased, such a conference would surely be of decided benefit to the Society and the churches.

Annual Report of Mrs. C. H. Taintor,

ASSISTANT FIELD SECRETARY, CLINTON, CONN.

At the beginning of this year, 1905, Dr. Taintor made plans for a large year's work. He often said to me, "We will make this our banner year." He made appointments for both of us, for every Sunday up to the time for the summer vacation, and arranged to be present at all the Spring State Associations, and as many of the local Associations in our field as it would be possible for either of us to attend. When the dates conflicted, so that he could not attend in person, he arranged to have some friend present the work.

Early in the year he showed signs of failing health. He consulted a physician, an old friend, who assured him that he must take absolute rest. This Dr. Taintor was not willing to do. He felt that he could get well much quicker "in the harness" than if he gave up his work. One day in January I called to see the doctor myself. He told me then that my husband would never be well again. But somehow I could not believe him. I was so sure that his work was not done, and that although the doctor could do but little for him, the Great Physician would surely heal his disease.

In spite of his great suffering he kept all his appointments. I made some changes in my plans in order to accompany him, especially long distances, and where there were two or three churches near each other, we had "field days" together. The last time he spoke was at Auburn Park Church, Chicago, April 2d. I took a part of the service. He suffered extremely that day. Ill as he was, he went to the office Monday, but realized that he must stop working for awhile. He grew steadily weaker, until the end came the morning of May 7th. The day before he died he dictated a leaflet for his beloved Society. During the last days of his life, he often asked me to read to him about the Kingdom. He made all preparations for his departure.

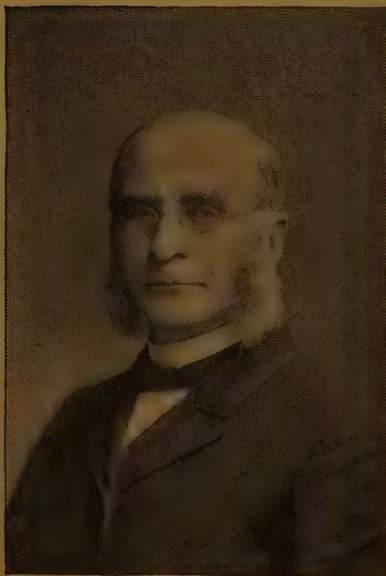

Our lives were so interwoven that to be deprived of his companionship means more than can ever be told. But the service of the Master has brought solace to the lonely days. The Society very kindly allowed me the privilege of going on with the work which both of us loved. The first of October it seemed best that I should make my permanent headquarters in Clinton, Connecticut. I am here at the old home, where he had fondly hoped we might spend the evening of our lives together. I felt there was one thing that I could take a deep interest in doing—that was to create a Memorial Fund, to be called “The Charles Henry Taintor Memorial Fund,” the money to be used by the Society as a Church Loan Fund. Mr. H. M. Hooker, of Chicago, has started this Fund with a gift of $5,000. Others have contributed generously, and many more will be moved to give, gladly and willingly, to help to keep in remembrance one who so faithfully did his Master’s work.

I have also had the joy of interesting a good many churches and individuals in our Parsonage Loan Fund, and am planning in this New Year to get into touch with Women’s Societies, Christian Endeavor Societies, and Sunday-schools, which will be glad, I am sure, to have a larger share in our work.

Once More, and Finally.

By Rev. L. H. COBB, D.D., SECRETARY EMERITUS.

REV. L. H. COBB, D.D.

Ought we to leave on that last word, as much as to say, “We will never write any more on this subject”? The purpose expressed is for ourselves. We gladly leave the way open for every first-class writer in the denomination, and invite correspondence.

We are amazed, appalled, at the quietness of our good people, in view of the condition of the treasury of our blessed Lord. Reasons by the hundred have been assigned, and still there is an awful silence.

You and I, my brother, my sister, a long or short time since, stood up in the house of God, and solemnly declared, in the presence of God, angels and men, that from that time forth we were and would be the Lord’s; that everything we possessed in money, influence and power, belonged to Him ; and that a reasonable proportion of it should be cheerfully rendered to Him.

A good many of our people have conscientiously and regularly done this, and are doing it now. The conscience of a good many others will bear witness that they are not doing it.

Many are trying to satisfy conscience with a very small weekly, monthly, or annual gift. Meanwhile God is calling from heaven, that His work is suffering for lack of His people's gifts.

Overworked missionaries are being laid aside temporarily, or permanently, because of overwork. Out-stations, some of them large and very important, are being given up for the lack of funds. Promising enterprises on our frontier are giving up for lack of a place of meeting. Ministers are obliged to leave their churches because they have no home. Do you wonder that our missionaries in the hardest worked places on our frontier are amazed and utterly disheartened ?

Now what can be done to change this, for it certainly ought to be changed ? We must change our entire habit of thought and speech as to whose work this is. We must remember whose calls they are that are so constantly and urgently ringing in our ears. Originally and fundamentally it is God's work, and so the calls are all and directly from God.

National Secretaries and State Superintendents and Secretaries are God's agents. Their word ought to be with power because He is behind it.

If need be, drop the word " Missionary " from all sermons, addresses, magazine and newspaper articles, and in their place use the phrase : "God's work in the world for saving men."

Then in every Congregational Church in the land that has not done it, appoint a Committee of from one to nine to secure and distribute literature—the most stirring missionary literature to be obtained—omitting not one single person.

Then let the pastor preach from one to four times a year on this vital matter. Not less than six times a year collect the offerings.

This canvass for money, and effort to awaken missionary interest, should be made for all our societies together. The plan once set on foot, Work it ! Work it ! Thoroughly and vigorously done, pushed with joint energy and determination—

This will certainly double the total of our gifts to the Lord.

Near the Arctic Circle.

Perhaps there is no more interesting or remarkable mining town in the country than Nome, Alaska. A busy community of 4,000 people, which the summer rush for gold swells to three or four times that number, or even more, it is the scene of marvelous energy and great spiritual need. Hope and despair, success and failure jostle each other on its busy streets. The very sands of the seashore have yielded fortunes, and the streams and hillsides back from the town hide a treasure that is being eagerly sought.

From June to October this teeming town is full of eager crowds bent upon riches. From October to June it is shut off from the rest of the world by ice and snow which stop navigation, and business is dull. But our church there, built in 1900, and into which this Society has put about $3,400, does business all the year round. It is a centre of the best life of the community. It touches all classes with its inspiring influence. Its earnest pastor, Rev. C. E. Ryberg, is unceasing in his efforts to promote the best life of the place, and to win men into the Christian life.

We have recently heard from this interesting church, within a hundred miles of the Arctic Circle. We are sure our readers will be deeply interested in the latest news from this place where Christmas is but three hours long, and where sunrise comes about eleven o'clock in the forenoon and sunset about two in the afternoon.

This is what they say for themselves: "We are just passing through the critical year of our church life. At times the task seems very difficult and almost hopeless. But matters have taken a turn now that gives promise of our having passed the crisis, and we hope to do excellent work.

THE NOME CHURCH IN WINTER.

"Two years ago when we had no parsonage we found the work was very much hampered by our not having a place suitable for the pastor's home, social gatherings, and smaller meetings of the church. A commodious parsonage was found to be absolutely necessary to carry on our work successfully. Hence a movement to build was started and we succeeded in raising $2,700, nearly all of which was raised by the pastor himself. The building was erected on the rear of the lot on which the church stands.

"Seeing the great need of a free reading room for the use of the many men who spend their long winter of eight months in this camp, an addition was built to the parsonage for that purpose. Since then the books of the library have been donated to the Y. M. C. A., which was organized by our pastor this year, and thus the part of the building used for a library now becomes a part of the parsonage. These buildings when complete cost us a little over $5,000. All of this amount has been provided for except the present indebtedness of $1,000, which was loaned to the pastor for the church by a personal friend.

“ To impress upon your minds the needs here in Alaska, we have only to mention the fact that our church is the only one in Northwestern Alaska that pretends to be self-supporting. Other pastors have their entire salary paid by the Missionary Societies. We have had no aid from the Congregational Home Missionary Society toward the pastor's salary since 1900. With running expenses of at least $225 per month, including the pastor's salary, and with extra expenditures for insurance, etc., you can readily see that a small band of regular workers with a constantly changing and adventurous membership less than sixty in number, we have a tremendous burden to carry.

“ Every Sunday afternoon our pastor preaches to from eighty to a hundred Eskimos in the church, using a native interpreter. During the past year and a half he has baptized nearly one hundred Eskimos upon their profession of faith in Christ as their personal Saviour. This work alone is worth all our efforts. All the help extended this little band of Arctic heroes of the Nome church is certainly well deserved. Our people in the church are all of them poor and most of our support comes from friends outside the church.

INTERIOR OF CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, NOME, ALASKA.

"Our church has a seating capacity of about 500, and on Sunday evenings it is almost always filled with attentive listeners. A very remarkable feature of our congregation is the fact that with such a large attendance scarcely 100 are regular attendants. This shows you the instability of social conditions as well as the very large number of people we reach through our work at Nome. We are essentially a mission church."

Thus this brave little company of devoted disciples, having changed their name from "The First Congregational" to "The Pilgrim Congregational Church of Nome," is repeating to some extent on the edge of the western sea the experience of those earlier pioneers in the wilderness, who stepped ashore from the Mayflower on a wintry day two hundred and eighty-five years ago and set up their banners on the shores of the Atlantic. They have the same faith and polity as those earlier pilgrims. We should make them feel our sympathy and fellowship.

BY REV. S. ABBIE CHAPIN.

REV. S. ABBIE CHAPIN.

Two years ago last fall I came to the state of Wyoming, having met our Wyoming State Superintendent in Colorado while attending a Christian Endeavor Convention. He asked me if I was so attached to Colorado that I could not go elsewhere, and told me of a church in his field which was without a pastor, saying that he would like to have me take it, and that later I should hear from him. The outcome was that I accepted the work in Wyoming.

My friends tried hard to persuade me not to go. They told me it was a “wild State” and that I would not be safe there. But I had decided to go, and after a long, hard trip, I arrived one Saturday morning, stopping on the way at the home of one of our deacons for dinner.

After we had dinner and I had rested, the deacon's wife said, “We will drive over to town, for of course you are anxious to see the Church and Parsonage.” After driving a short time we stopped in front of an “old shack,” which I supposed was just a place where we were to tie the horse, when to my great surprise she opened the gate and said, “This is to be your home.” Somehow I never got so I could associate it with the word “home”, for it lacked, yes, it simply lacked all that goes to make up a home.

The door not being fastened, we opened it and walked in. I can never with pen describe the feeling that came over me, and the lump that came into my throat, and I tried to swallow; somehow it remained so long, and it seems to come back when I think of that day (yet I never had a throat trouble).

The ladies of the church had cleaned the house as best they could. For furnishings it contained boxes for chairs, for bureau and for tables, couch and sideboard. I have often said, when I leave I shall never want to see a box sideboard, box sofa, box bureau, and many other box contrivances which are used in some of our homes. Fortunately there was a bed, which the ladies of the church had made up for me, but when I retired for the night I must admit that I did not feel in a spirit to preach the next day. I came determined, if possible, to win the love and esteem of the people, and to serve the Master ; but try my best, I could not feel happy or comfortable in my home.

The long, dreary months of winter came on, and days of actual suffering, for with all the fuel my scant salary would permit me to buy, I could not keep warm in the shack. When I sat down to study, I was obliged to get as near the fire as I possibly could, with soapstones at my feet, for more cold came in from open places in the wall and floor than the heat could counteract. However, I struggled through the winter, promising myself that I would never live another in such a way.

Spring opened, and I talked of building a new parsonage, but the people rejected the proposition, saying it never could be done ; the people were poor, and I must bear in mind that I was living in the West, and must live as the Western people lived ; that I was a missionary and that missionaries must live lives of self-denial ; that I would run them into debt ; so the thought of building a parsonage must be given up. But with God's promise to stand back of me I was not to be beaten ; I was no doubter of God's blessed promises. I came to succeed. I had seen, but I had not as yet conquered. The next summer, in the early part of the season, I spent my vacation in New England, visiting the first fields in which I had labored, and where I had spent many weary hours, and many sleepless nights, and yet where I had spent some of the happiest years of my life. I remember how much I longed to stay with the dear friends, and the feeling of dread which came over me when I thought of returning to Wyoming. For I saw how different were the pastors' lives and the home comforts they enjoyed, and the pleasant associations. I shall always remember those New England homes, such large, roomy houses and every one so cordial. I returned, with the firm resolution that I would build a new parsonage. During the early part of the next summer, an old acquaintance of years past, a kind old gentleman residing in the East, inquiring of my sister in regard to the success of my work in the West, and learning of the condition of my home, said : " Here is ten dollars. Take it and send it to your sister and tell her to use it as she thinks best." When it came I thought of the many comforts that the money would buy. I thought of new books that I needed ; but my heart went out longing most for a new house, and I said, " This is to go for the nucleus of a new parsonage fund," and the next Sunday I read the letter that I had received in church.

Soon after this our State Superintendent and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gray, came to Dayton. I had heard it remarked that when the Superintendent came he was always entertained at the best homes, and I decided to change this plan, and invite them to remain in the parsonage, going myself to stay with a neighbor. Well, to help things along we had a good shower, and my house having one of those roofs (like the little old log-cabin in the lane that we used to sing about) that let in the sunshine and rain, it was the rain that came this time.

Our Superintendent said, "This will never do; you must have a new parsonage. I heartily agree with you in the stand you have taken." He sat up until late into the night, drawing plans, doing some addition and subtraction and a bit of multiplication, trying to see for how much we could build a new parsonage. During the days that followed he went out trying to interest the people and get them to subscribe toward the Parsonage Fund, and his wife and I were bent on the same purpose. Our people were yet of the opinion that it would be a failure, that it could not be accomplished.

Up in the mountains, through rivers and over prairies, I went, after our Superintendent had gone, collecting money from all classes and conditions in life, soliciting help and seeing that they attended to the work.

Knowing that the Congregational Church-Building Society helps churches to provide homes for pastors as well as houses of worship, application was made to it to lend a hand in this case. It generously responded, and Secretary Richards laid the matter before the First Congregational Church in Washington.

D. C., whose large-hearted people adopted the case as their own and contributed money enough to help complete the "Mary L. Newman Parsonage" in honor of their pastor's wife.

The plan for the parsonage called for seven rooms. Some people said: "Seven rooms for a pastor and she is alone?" But I reminded them of the fact that it was not being built for the present time and the present pastor alone, but for future use, and that some day they might have a pastor with a wife and family—that probably they would not always have a single preacher. The parsonage is now completed and is valued at $1,500. The days of hardship have passed, and just in front of where the old shack stood there stands now the new parsonage, a fulfilment of the promise that "Whatsoever ye ask in prayer, believing, ye shall receive."

Two Michigan Churches.

The Congregational Church at Charlevoix, Mich., was organized in 1882, and soon after proceeded to build a beautiful and commodious house of worship, costing about $6,000, and seating three hundred. This Society aided the young and vigorous church by a grant of $740, in 1885. The town and church continued to grow and summer resort interests developed, making it necessary to enlarge and improve the property to meet the advancing conditions. In 1903 the church again asked for a small grant, which was received and which enabled it to enlarge its work. In 1904, through the generosity of several resort friends, the church was encouraged to purchase a fine pipe organ which was duly installed, and so today the church in Charlevoix—"The Beautiful"—is one of the complete and well equipped churches of the State. It has always felt grateful for the aid given and has sought to show its gratitude by regular contributions to the Society's treasury. It occupies an unique place among the Michigan churches because of its largely increased ministry in the resort season. After a ministry of nearly six years in Charlevoix, the pastor, Rev. James Hyslop, Ph.D., recently accepted a call to the church in St. Johns, Mich. He was immediately succeeded at Charlevoix by the Rev. Holden A. Putnam, of Hudson, Mich., and the church is fortunate in its speedy and happy settlement.

CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH, CHARLEVOIX, MICH.

Dr. Hyslop, who has been for fourteen years our State Secretary in Michigan, and has signed no less than one hundred and sixty applications for aid in church and parsonage building, was born in southern Scotland. He was educated in the School of Architects, London, and in the Universities of Edinburgh and Glasgow. He received his theological training in Rotherham Congregational College, England, and in this country has studied in Olivet and Wheaton Colleges. His first pastorate was in Derby, England, followed by two years in Truro, Cornwall. Coming to Michigan in 1889, his pastorates have been fifteen months in Potterville, four years at Cheboygan, two years at Imlay City, four years at the Mount Hope Church in Detroit, and nearly six years at Charlevoix. At the latter place, during his ministry, the church membership and attendance nearly doubled, the Sunday-school increased over fifty per cent. and the church benevolences over sixty per cent. His ministry has been a fruitful one, and his wide scholarship and large ability will find a worthy field in his new parish.

The St. Johns church was organized in 1860. Five years later this Society aided in its building enterprise by a grant of $500. From the first the church grew steadily, keeping pace with the growth of the city. In time the original church building proved inadequate to the needs of the parish and a few years ago the people decided to rebuild, the result being a magnificent stone structure, built of field boulders roughly dressed and laid in broken rubble courses, and which in plan, design, and finish, is one of the finest and completest churches in Michigan. Unfortunately, however, the church was dedicated with a large debt upon it. Through the death of the contractor and other causes the cost was much larger than expected. The property is worth $30,000, but has an indebtedness of $7,000, which has been carried for four years, crippling the usefulness of the church. However, under new leadership and with the hope of a loan from the Church Building Society, the people have determined to make a strong effort to clear off the debt except to this Society. The church much regrets the unfortunate circumstances which resulted in the debt, but the people are determined to remove the burden and are much encouraged. The church has always believed that the Church-Building Society is one of the very best benevolent agencies of our denomination and has ever taken an active interest in its work.

An assured income for life may be secured by elderly people, who wish to avoid anxiety and trouble in reinvesting their money, by sending an "Annuity Gift" to our treasury. This is held in trust, and a semi-annual dividend is paid on it during the lifetime of the donor. It then goes to work at once, building churches. Such a giver is the Executor of his own Will. Many persons are investing in this way with great satisfaction. Write to the Secretary about it.

DEATH OF DR. L. H. COBB.

Just as our last form goes to press, we receive word that our honored and beloved Secretary Emeritus, DR. L. H. COBB, died on February 5, at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. F. Hunt, in Maynard, Mass. Thus has a valiant and true-hearted soldier of the cross gone to his reward. He had fought a good fight, and has finished his course. His last message to the churches appears in this number of the QUARTERLY under the singularly fitting title, "Once More, and Finally." We shall give in our next number a full review of his life and work.

The October number of the Architectural Review is Beautiful Churches. devoted to ecclesiastical architecture. Its articles by experts on the church and its appointments are sumptuously illustrated by rarely beautiful pictures of cathedrals and churches in Europe and America. The highest skill of the printer's art is called into play to set forth the ideals of those who have prepared this magazine. It well repays study.

PAID TO PARSONAGES.

List of appropriations paid as loans to aid in building parsonages for Congregational Churches. These loans are secured by a first mortgage on the property, and are paid to the Society in installments; the annual sums so paid vary according to the amount of the loan. When the payments thus made are equal to the amount of the mortgage, the obligation of the church is to be cancelled, and the parsonage becomes the property of the church free from all debts.
